2017 marks the European Court of Auditors' 40th anniversary. Since 1977 our aim as the external auditor of the Union has always been to protect the financial interests of our citizens. We do this by presenting relevant information on how to make EU policies and programmes more effective and how to use public funds more efficiently. We will uphold this commitment in the years to come.

Our work programme for 2018 covers a broad range of issues, reflecting the challenges the EU is currently facing. It addresses key concerns such as the sustainable use of natural resources, growth and inclusion, migration and global development, the single market, and an accountable and efficient European Union.

We have made our selection of audit tasks based on our assessment of the main risks to both EU spending and policy delivery. We have also taken account of the suggestions made to us by our stakeholders, especially the European Parliament.

We consider 12 of the newly selected tasks to be of high priority. For these, we intend to finalise our work during the year so that the reports can be published by the end of 2018.

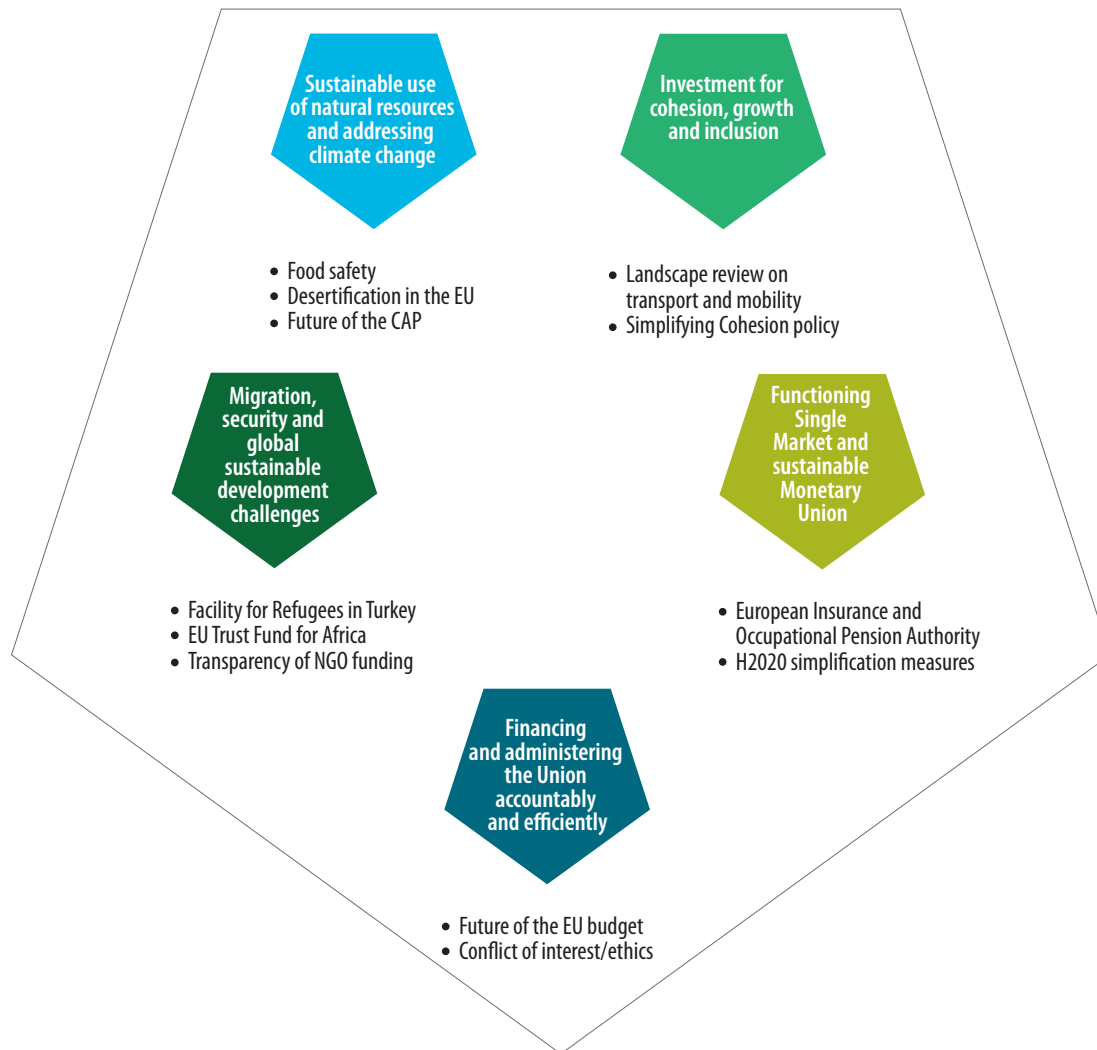

In addition we are currently carrying out a number of other tasks that will be finalised during the year.

On the following pages, you will find a detailed list of the special reports, landscape reviews, briefing papers and the other products we intend to publish in 2018. We believe that the broad range of topics covered in our 2018 work programme will allow us to make a valuable contribution to the discussion on the future of the European Union and its finances.

The audit concentrates on the five biggest EU institutions (European Parliament, Council, European Commission, European Court of Justice and European Central Bank) and the main locations.
	Putting EU law into practice landscape review	To cover the Commission's oversight of the application of EU law by Member States and how the Commission's oversight activities contribute to promoting and enforcing compliance. The audit will examine the Commission's overall strategy and the approach taken in specific policy areas, in particular how the Commission: prioritises and resources its oversight activities; identifies and deals with cases of non-compliance; ensures transparency for stakeholders and uses the lesson learned from its oversight activities to promote and enforce Member States' compliance with EU law.
	Fraud risks in EU spending	To assess whether the Commission properly manages the risk of fraud in EU spending. The audit examines in particular if the Commission has appropriate fraud risk oversight at corporate level, if Directorates-General are well prepared to prevent fraud and if there is appropriate response after fraud is detected.

As the EU's external auditor, our mission is to contribute to improving EU financial management, promote accountability and transparency and act as the independent guardian of the financial interests of EU citizens.

We warn of risks, provide assurance, indicate shortcomings and successes and offer guidance to EU policymakers and legislators on how to improve the management of EU policies and programmes. Through our work, we ensure that Europe's citizens know how their money is being spent.

Our audit reports and opinions are an essential element of the EU accountability chain. They are used to hold to account those responsible for implementing EU policies and programmes: the Commission, other EU institutions and bodies and administrations in Member States.

Our output

We produce:

- ✓ annual reports on the EU budget and European Development Funds, including a statement of assurance.
- ✓ special reports on selected audit topics, published throughout the year, mainly as the result of performance audits.
- ✓ opinions, which are used by the European Parliament and the Council when approving EU laws and other decisions with significant financial management implications, and other review-based outputs.
- ✓ specific annual reports setting out our financial audit opinions on each of the EU's various agencies and bodies.
- ✓ review-based publications such as landscape reviews and briefing papers.
- ✓ annual activity reports providing information and insight on our activities for the year.
