

Kenroy Quellenec-Reid, Financial Engineering Manager, European programmes unit, Greater London authority

For the past 15 years Kenroy Quellenec-Reid has worked on the strategic development and implementation of Structural Funds programmes in London. This has involved working with key regional partners to identify economic development priorities for London and developing and negotiation a programme of activities with the European Commission. Since 2002, he has led on the development and implementation of financial instruments financed by European Regional Development and Social Funds. This has included the development of a €50m programme to enable small businesses to access finance and the pioneering €125m JESSICA fund (called the London Green Fund).

Kenroy holds a BSc in mathematics and MA in international finance.